

Toward Equity in Global Health: The Status of Women's Health, Beijing +10

“As much as by biology, women's health is determined by the social, political and economic context of their lives.”

Friday, March 3rd &
Saturday, March 4th, 2006
Vancouver General Hospital,
Vancouver, BC

Friday

18:00-18:30 Registration
18:30-20:30 Plenary Sessions
20:30 Wine and Cheese Reception

Saturday

8:00-8:30 Registration & Breakfast
8:30-16:30 Plenaries, Workshops, &
Poster Session

* Breakfast & Lunch also provided

$40 Registration; $25 for students

To register and for additional Information, please see:

http://www.familymed.ubc.ca/intl/index_intlconf.html

Photos (L-R) courtesy of: Dan Jenkin, Paul Campsall, Lara Malks-Jjumba, and background: Sharona Supernault

The 2006 M.O.R.E. conference invites students and health-care providers to explore the obstacles that make women disproportionately vulnerable to marginalized health.

At this event, organized by UBC health care students, invited speakers will focus on violence & conflict, health access, access to education, empowerment, HIV & other infectious diseases, reproductive health options, and obstetrical care.

Featured Speakers:

- Dr. Samantha Nutt, MD - Founder & Executive Director, War Child Canada
- Ruth Kennedy - Midwife with 23 years experience at the Addis Ababa Fistula Hospital, Ethiopia
- Dr. Fay King Chung - Director, UNESCO International Capacity Building Institute for Africa
- Dr. Craig Cohen, MD - Department of Obstetrics, Gynaecology, & Reproductive Health, University of California
- Dr. Stephen Bezruchka, MD - International Health Program of the School of Public Health and Community Medicine, University of Washington
- Dr. Anibal Faundes, MD - Professor of Obstetrics, Universidade Estadual de Campinas, Brazil